

About Formax

Formax (Pty) Ltd is a company in the computer paper and stationery industry. We are a distributor of business forms, office paper products, stationery and other consumables. The company has grown from small offices in Randburg to the current position of a National Office Consumables Company with branches in Johannesburg, Durban and Cape Town.

Formax commenced trading in 1982 as allFORMS (Pty) Ltd. The establishment of Formax (Pty) Ltd took place in 1994. Since then several strategic acquisitions were made. Effective business management and a consolidation of strengths, coupled with strategic marketing has made the company one of the largest forms distributors in Southern Africa. The prime focus of Formax is quality and the pursuit of excellence in all spheres of our business. The constant aim is to provide clients with exceptional products at competitive prices supported by fast and reliable service. Since 1982 the company has built up a large clientele in a very competitive industry. Formax thrives on challenges and we strive to outperform our competitors on quality, service and price. Our reputation is well established in the industry.

The Business of Formax

Formax initially traded as a supplier of business forms specifically for computer users. This endeavour soon expanded into custom print solutions both cut-sheet and continuous which enable us to fulfil all printing requirements. Our services include the design, manufacturing, warehousing and customising of individual forms for clients specific needs

Formax is the leading stockist of standard forms compatible with all major software applications. These are designed specifically for leading accounting and business software programs. The allFORMS range encompasses over 300 individual business forms. The company is also a major supplier of continuous eyeline and consol paper with our Stocklist range of quality products. Substantial buying power has also ensured that Formax is able to supply 80gsm copy paper in significant quantities at competitive prices.

The introduction of stationery and media products in 2001 ensured added value for Formax clients. Today, more than 3 000 different stationery items are offered by Formax. The above ranges are complemented by the Office Care range of products introduced in 2010. This includes the everyday staples of tea, coffee, milk and cleaning materials in addition to prepacked ration packs. These are now available as a convenience to all our customers and clients. 2012 saw the introduction of Office Furniture to the Formax product offering. The addition of this range renders our business capable of servicing most office requirements. With our vast experience, wide product range and national footprint, Formax is ideally positioned to be of service to your business as your one-stop office consumables supplier.
